<h4>Notice on Recruitment Fraud</h4>
Takeda has received reports that there are instances of identity thieves posing as Takeda employees in an attempt to steal personal information from job seekers. In these cases, identity thieves visit job-related websites and invite candidates to online chats. During the chat, they press job seekers to provide bank account information and personal identification numbers. If you receive unexpected offers of employment from people claiming to work for Takeda, we suggest you do not correspond with them, do not click any hyperlinks and do not open any attachments.
At Takeda, we will never ask for personal financial information during any step of the interview nor do we charge job seekers fees as part of the recruitment process. Takeda’s recruiting correspondence will be sent by a recruiting representative with an @takeda.com email address.
If you believe you have been contacted by an unauthorized person, please contact your local law enforcement agency immediately.

On May 16, 2019, top researchers, policy officials, and industry and academic leaders from the UK and Japan came together at the Japanese Embassy in London.
LEARN MORE

More than five million children under five die each year, half in the first month of life, in large part due to childhood infections such as pneumonia and diarrhea. While the vast majority of these deaths are preventable, key research gaps remain. The Takeda Chair in Global Child Health—the first chair at LSHTM to be fully endowed by a company—will bridge research, public policy, and healthcare delivery by developing thought leadership in and advance the evidence base for child survival and health through innovative research, including on vaccines, neonatal care, under-nutrition, and infection diagnostics and treatments.
